Iv the city authorities have succeeded in closing the coffee-houses on the Sabbath day, we should like to be informed why so many drunken men were on the streets last evening. Probably the warm weather had a bad effect on the brain.

ABOUT the smallest instance of petty thieving that has come within our knowledge, is that of a fellow named Joseph Bell, who was arrested by officer Farnsworth, on Saturday, for stealing a lot of chicken's gizzards from a huckster in the Sixth street market. If Bell knows no better, he should be tolled.

THE sermon of the Rev. J. W. Chaffin, of the Third M. P. Church, on George street, between Cutter and Linn, yesterday morning, was pregnant with truthful and impressive eloquence. His text on "the fitness of the time when Christ made his advent in the world," was elucidated in a scholarly manner, and his discourse gave very general satisfaction. Mr. Chaffin is not a sensation preacher, but is one who nevertheless will always engage the undivided attention of his congregation.

Wm observed a woman bowed with grief and lisease, thin almost as a skeleton, on Saturday, at the steps of the office of the Directors of the Infirmary, who, on recognizing the writer, burst into tears and recounted her story, that she, perhaps unwittingly against the orders of the hospital where she has been confined for a year vainly expecting relief from a consuming cancer in her breast, had gone to the kitchen to cook a tinful of gruel, her stomach being too delicate for stronger food-that one of the nurses pursued her and, in urging her with force out of the spartment, pushed her down and bruised her limbs and back with violence, The visitation of punishment on those so deeply afflicted, should be tempered with great mildness. We know that the insufferable frettings to which employees of these institutions are subjected, is provoking indeed; but 'tis hard that an American born woman-used to better days and suffering with severity, with afflictions consuming as with fire-should be subjected to ignominious abuse. We doubt not the Directors have duly investigated the complaint made in person by the sufferer, who is a widow of Mr. Halstead, a few years since sexton of Swedenborgian church on Longworth street.

REPORTED FOR THE DAVILY PRESS

Arrangements of the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 25 .- The New Orleans Picayune has abandoned the arrangements for obtaining foreign and other news by telegraph, so long maintained by it, and having on application been admitted as one of the Associated Press of that city, will in future be on the same footing with other New Orleans papers, and participate in the arrangements New York Associated Press.

On Saturday afternoon of last week the highly important news furnished by the steamer Anglo-Saxon was published throughout the country by members of the Associated Press, many hours before the steamer which brought it had reached Quebec—it having been telegraphed to the agent of the Associated Press, exclu-sively, from Farther Point, which is one hundred and fifty miles or more beyond that city.

To and from that point the Associated Press have exclusive arrangements for the transmis-sion of news by telegraph, and one would suppose that the news thus transmitted ought to be exclusive; but on the occasion referred to this was not the case—there being good rea-son for saying that certain other parties, who had no right to it, got hold of the Anglo-Saxon's dispatch.

This fact, of course, created some surprise among the parties who are most interested in the matter, and led to a searching inquiry into the mystery on the part of their agent. The result of this inquiry is, that a portion of the news dispatch referred to was stolen off the telegraph wires at some point east of Boston—a feat which can be easily accomplished by the Morse wires if desired; any expert operator on the magnetic instrument being able to read by the clicks of that machine as easily as a person can tell by the ear what tune an organ is playing, and in order to hear these clicks the operator aforesaid has only to ensconce himself snugly in some room or hall adjacent to the one in which one of these Morse instrunents is in operation, and the thing is done.

Now, among a certain clique of newsmongers who have recently undertaken to supply the newspapers with the latest news, there happens to be one of those expert operators who can thus read the Morse instrument by car, and as these newsmongers happen to be the very parties who had a portion of the Anglo Saxon's news dispatched in advance of those Saxon's news dispatched in advance of those to whom it legitimately belonged, it would not be a very difficult matter to guess how they came by this news.

In order to guard against any similar trick of this kind, the agent of the Associated Press has intimated new measures which, when consummated will not an effective product of the consumer of the consum summated, will put an effectual stop to this mode of thieving. Other dodges, however, will undoubtedly be resorted to by the culprits for the purpose of getting hold of the Associated Press news, but they will be promptly circum-vented at every point wherever their modus operandi can be detected.

In the meantime while there are two lines, one between New York and Boston, and one in Nova Scotia, actively co-operating with the newsmongers in question, the commercial public cannot be too well guarded.

The arrangements of the Associated Press are that speculators and newsmongers will find it difficult to obtain any important European news in advance of our reports. news in advance of our reports, and after a steamer is known to be in and her news on the wires, the public should discard all reports until the details are made public through the regular channel.

Tragedy at Pittsburg.

Pittssung, June 25.—About nine o'clock last night Policeman Richard Jones killed his wife by stabbing her several times, and afterward shooting her, mutilating her in a shocking manner.

He immediately surrendered himself, alleging that he had committed the deed while she was in the act of adultery with a butcher named Mentzer, who was also shot and had fallen into the river, the affair having taken place on the upper Monongahela Bridge.
It is rumored that Mentzer was seen this morning unhurt, but the report needs confir-mation. Jones' wife had been a notorious prostitute, named Mary Delaney, who had served a two-years' term in the State Prison for stabbing a man. Jones has highly respectable connections.

Lord Granville, after an audience with the Queen, waited on Lord Palmerston, who consented to waive his claims and serve under Granville. In his interview with Lord John Russell, Granville found him disposed to insist on conditions which made a union with Palmerston impossible, whether presided over by Granville or any other. The Queen being satisfied that Granville was the only obstacle to the Union of Palmerston and Russell, sent for Palmerston, who had an hour's interview, and straightway sought one with Russell, who agreed to serve under him, but not under any other

These roads have a perfect right to make such arrangements, but our business men claim that they should have their freight shipped from Cincinnati over any route that pleased them, or when they shipped goods to Cincinnati, to have the same right to ship them over any route they may see proper. We think if the H. & D. Road would look to its own interests this contract would soon be re-
